Monroe Link, of Millerville, and J. F. Proffler, of Burfordville, called on us Tuesday. Mr. Link was the first subscriber to the Jackson Comet, which has since changed to the JACKSON HERALD, hence Mr. Link has been a subscriber for six years. We appreciate such true-blue subscribers as Mr. Link, and we have several of them.

The grandmaster workman has recommended that the various subordinate lodges over the state have union meetings during the winter months. The purpose of these meetings is to discuss plans for bettering the order and build up its membership. The next Union meeting will be held with Fruitland lodge at some date which it may fix.

Monday the number of rabbits killed was about 300, which were shipped to the Provident association at St. Louis. Shawnee township leads with 160 to their credit, but old Hubble comes in with a bushel of generosity. Several persons at Dutchtown paid 5 to 7 cents apiece for all rabbits and donated them to the association.

We are sending out each week to some of our former subscribers a sample copy of each of the following: Live stock Indicator (weekly) Farmers Institute Edition (monthly) and the Poultry Farmer (monthly). All these together with the HERALD (yearly) for $1.25 to all new subscribers and those who pay up and extend their subscription in advance. Look over these and subscribe. You will never again be offered a better bargain, we are sure. Speak of this offer to your neighbor.

Read E. W. Flentze & Co.'s ad. in this issue.

We learn that the heating apparatus of the Exchange bank and that in the residence of Wilson Cramer has worked alright from the start. Jeger & Bezel put these in and it goes to show that they understand their business. They are home men, also, hence we see that it is not necessary to send off for men to do work just because they will do it a few dollars cheaper. This rule applies to all other lines of business. Always give your work to home men who are such engaged in the business you want done.
